AMMC'S DAVIS HONORED WITH 2008 REGENT'S AWARD

PARAGOULD, AR – Barry Davis, Vice President of Operations for Arkansas Methodist Medical Center in Paragould, has been honored by the American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE) with the 2008 Arkansas Regent's Award for a senior level healthcare executive.

The award was presented to Davis at the ACHE/Arkansas Health Executives Forum Breakfast on October 9th, held in conjunction with the Arkansas Hospital Association's Annual Meeting at The Peabody Hotel in Little Rock.

The award recognizes exceptional traits and skills including leadership ability, innovative and creative management, executive capabilities in fostering growth and promoting a healthcare organization, contributions to the development of others in the healthcare profession, participation in civic and community activities and achievement of the goals of ACHE.

Arkansas Methodist President and CEO Ron Rooney said, "It's more than fitting that Barry be honored with the ACHE's 2008 Arkansas Regent's Award. His unique brand of hands-on, community-focused leadership has been invaluable to the growth of Arkansas Methodist, and in maintaining our commitment to meeting the healthcare needs of the people of our region."

Barry has been employed by Arkansas Methodist since 1981 and holds a Bachelor of Arts from Lyon College and a Master of Public Administration from Arkansas State University. He is board certified in healthcare management by the American College of Healthcare Executives. Barry and his wife, Stephane, have two sons, Tyson and Trace.

A recognized leader, Arkansas Methodist Medical Center in Paragould provides progressive, compassionate care to residents throughout Northeast Arkansas and Southeast Missouri. Additional information about AMMC is available at: www.arkansasmethodist.org.
